Local Independent School Expanding

Millwood School announced on April 24th that ground will be broken in the summer of 2008 for a new 27,000 sq. ft. academic building. Millwood School will become a Junior Kindergarten –12th grade school, offering parents, who choose an independent education for their children, the opportunity to stay at one campus.

Millwood School was established in 1989 with 20 students, moved to the current 79 acre site on Millwood School Lane adjacent Woodlake in 1998, and has grown to approximately 300 students in Junior Kindergarten through 8th Grade. The new academic building will house not only middle school students (6-8), but will also accommodate the first upper school students. The building will comprise 13 classrooms, a state-of-the-art library/media center, two science laboratories, a band room, chorus room, technology center, art studio, board room and health clinic, as well as administrative offices. A new athletic field will serve as the arena for physical education classes and interscholastic sports programs, including soccer and field hockey.

Dr. Louise Bagwell-Robinson, Head of School, hopes that the new building (to be built by B.K. Katherman) will be ready for students before the fall of 2009. Millwood School is known for small classes and individual attention, a challenging and diverse curriculum, exceptional faculty, and a value structure that promotes honesty, integrity, and respect for others.
